

vilian exercises in the north of the country.

A month-long military program called Hewn Stone will involve all levels of the Northern Command to improve its skills in a variety of scenarios. Last week, an armored battalion and infantry began a two-week drill in the Jordan Valley in cooperation with the air force, artillery, and intelligence.

Simultaneously, the Home Front Command and National Emergency Authority, in cooperation with the police and Magen David Adom, launched a week-long drill to prepare the populace for a large-scale war. The drill includes power cuts, evacuations in the face of massive rocket barrages, and a simulated missile strike on a factory with hazardous materials.

Down south, an internal IDF investigation found that despite overall success in the May conflict in Gaza, there were significant intelligence gaps with regard to Hamas rockets, anti-tank missiles, and snipers, which prevented the army from achieving all its objectives.

GAZA ARAB BURNS SUKKOS IN RAMLE

A 29-year-old Arab from Gaza who entered Israel with his ailing mother and stayed illegally after she returned home was arrested for allegedly carrying out arson attacks in Ramle, including the incineration of a bus and sukkos.

In collaboration with Fatah's Al Aqsa Martyrs' Brigade, he was planning to shoot, stab, and kidnap Israelis, but was arrested while waiting to receive his first gun.

SUPREME COURT APPROVES OUSTING OF PALESTINIANS

The Supreme Court rejected the appeal of Arab families who refused to vacate land in Yerushalayim's Shimon Hatzaddik neighborhood, backing a district court's decision that they must leave.

The court also ordered Arab owners of a parking lot and car wash in East Yerushalayim's Sheikh Jarrah neighborhood to obey a municipal order to vacate the premises and enable the construction of a public park.

A third case between Palestinians and Jews over homes in Sheikh Jarrah remains undecided, with both sides rejecting the Supreme Court's advice to reach a compromise.

DAYLIGHT STRIKE IN SYRIA

In a rare daylight strike, Hezbollah targets near Damascus were attacked by surface-to-surface missiles launched from northern Israel. Two Syrian soldiers were killed in the attack and ammunition depots and advanced weapons systems were destroyed.

Israeli attacks against the Damascus International Airport have ceased due to Russian and Syrian pressure on Iran to stop using its environs for storage or missile development.

Still, there are increasing Iranian efforts to improve air defenses in locations where Israeli planes attack in Syria, Lebanon, and Iraq.

ISRAEL COVID FIGURES AT SIX MONTH LOW

Israel's coronavirus figures were at a six-month low, with only 688 positive results out of 89,792 tests on Monday. The total number of patients on Monday was 7,685.

There were 210 patients in severe condition, including 126 on ventilators and 43 on ECMO machines.

Due to the improvement, Israel was set to remove rules limiting outdoor gatherings, but regulations regarding indoor events were to remain in place.

PANDEMONIUM AT AIRPORTS

The opening of Israel to tourists triggered pandemonium at international airports due to the government's failure to apprise airlines of its new policies. Furthermore, a form that travelers had to fill out was only updated to comply with the new rules at noon on Monday, too late for many travelers who were already in transit.

"It's a horror show," said Ariella Bernstein, who helps people reunite with relatives in Israel and maintains a website with the latest rules. "The last few hours have been a nightmare. Loads and loads of people were not able to board flights, even though they met the criteria for entry the next day."

There were also accusations that Health Ministry Director General Nachman Ash altered many rules at the 11th hour, leading to even more muddles.

Even without the mix up, millions of travelers are unable to visit Israel because of its stringent definitions of whom is considered fully vaccinated.

Senior Health Ministry officials slammed PM Bennett's decision — which came after he spoke to President Putin in the Kremlin — to accept tourists vaccinated with the Russian Sputnik vaccine, rejected by the FDA. They said the decision was politically motivated and dangerous.

HEALTH OFFICIALS THREATENED

Health Ministry Director General Nachman Ash and Dr. Sharon Alroy Preis, head of Health Services in the Ministry of Health, received death threats as the government discussed whether to vaccinate children aged five to 11 after this was approved by the FDA.

The number of infected children already fell by 54% over the past two weeks, from 10,236 to 4,743.

Meanwhile, Israel's Oravax Medical company received clearance from South Africa to begin testing volunteers for a Phase I clinical trial of its new oral Covid-19 vaccine.

MANSOUR ABBAS DEMANDS $30 MILLION FOR CHAREIDIM

Moshe Gafni delivered an impassioned speech in the Knesset saying that the budget was denying millions given by the government in the past to seminars, talmudei Torah and Torah culture and that everything the chareidim fought for in the past was lost.

Turning to Mansour Abbas, head of the Raam party, he warned that the billions promised to him and his party by the government would not necessarily materialize since secular Israelis only really care for people of their own mindset. Gafni noted that the funds promised to Abbas were not part of the basic budget but only listed in a supplementary budget, which can easily be altered.

"Gafni spoke wisely," Abbas said. "We sat down together afterwards, and I understood how he pained he feels."

Abbas then surprisingly called for the government to allocate an extra $30 million for chareidi needs, speaking of a "alliance covenant of the disadvantaged" that has long existed between the chareidi and Arab parties.

Meanwhile, a group of kollel yungeleit's wives arrived outside of the Knesset together with their children and set up an impromptu "childcare center" in protest against the decision to limit government childcare subsidies to kollel families. A number of religious MKs and rabbonim showed up in support.

SHOULD CHAREIDIM JOIN THE COALITION?

According to a survey publicized by Chashot 13, despite the insistence of chareidi MKs that they will never join the coalition, 48 percent of people who vote for Shas and UTJ said they should do so, versus 34 who opposed joining. Among the general public, 20 percent want chareidi parties to join the government versus 63 percent who do not.

RELIGIOUS JEWS UNITE TO PROTECT KOSEL

Religious MKs met to decide how to react to MK Gilad Kariv's illegal transfer of a sefer Torah to the Kosel at the Women of the Wall's monthly service at the Kosel last Rosh Chodesh.

They decided to go together to the Kosel together this Friday which is Rosh Chodesh and forcibly prevent the Reform Knesset representative from repeating his provocation.
